

A Mid-Ohio Foodbank Mobile Market is Coming to Your Town!

What is the Mobile Market?

The Mid-Ohio Foodbank (MOF) Mobile Market is a program designed to bring fresh foods and groceries to individuals and families in communities where food access is limited. Now in its second phase, Mobile Market will extend its reach to outlying MOF service territory. The refrigerated truck visits housing sites, community centers, public libraries and schools – bringing the market to you.

How Does It Work?

- A central location in your community will host the Mobile Market.
- The MOF driver arrives with the product according to an established schedule (see below for day of the week, dates and times).
- The product is fresh produce and other perishable staples like eggs and milk.
- You are invited to shop for free, bringing your own bags and means of carrying the food home.
- The MOF driver remains on site for the duration of the distribution before loading any remaining food for another stop or the return trip.
